EX-SERVICE MEN GIVE PROGRAM

WOMEN'S DINNER NEXT

Wives, Sisters and Sweethearts to be Guests at Meeting Monday Evening.

Five ex-service men, students in the State Teachers College, furnished the entertainment program at the Chamber of Commerce dinner, held last night at the Yehle Tea Room. They told of their experiences in the World War and told of them in such an interesting and pleasing manner that their audience was greatly pleased. Some of those present said it was the most interesting dinner program of the Chamber that they had attended.

The presidents of the nineteen county clubs at the College were also present as guests of the Chamber, but they were not called on for talks. It was stated at the dinner that they were there as guests but that they did not have to talk for their dinners. President Uel W. Lamkin of the College was chairman for the entertainment.

Joe F. Mildred of Mexico, Mo., was the first speaker. He belonged to the Fourth Infantry of the Third Division and now carries a machine gun bullet, received in action. He is studying business and public administration at the College. He said he appreciated very much what the government was doing for him in the way of giving him an education.

Cliff Smith of Rushville, Mo., was the second speaker. He belonged to the U. S. Navy during the war and was commissioned an ensign. President Lamkin introduced him as one who is a hustler and who is willing to do anything in order to make his way as he goes and get an education. Mr. Smith is taking the preliminary work at the College that he will need before entering the University of Missouri, where he expects to study medicine.

Melvin Akers of Trenton was the next speaker. Akers was a "gob" too and served as a radio operator on board ship. He had an interesting way of telling of his experiences.

Pierre Karr of Skidmore, who served in the air service, spoke next. He told of his desire to get into the service and how he slipped off from his home once to St. Joseph to enlist. When he got there the recruiting officer told him that he had his description and that he could not take him. Karr's people had surmised where he had gone and what he had gone for and had telegraphed the officers not to enlist him. He also spoke of the difficulty early in the action of the United States in the war in getting aircrafts and of how a large number of them were available at the armistice.

Rolf Raynor, twenty years in the army, and a veteran of both the Spanish-American and the World War, was the last speaker. In introducing him President Lamkin said that Raynor gave his address as Kansas City, but that he felt that it should be given as Sergeant Rolf Raynor of the United States, since he had served so long and in so many places in the army. He told in a brief and unassuming way his life history from the beginning up to the present. He has served in most of the parts of the world. In the late war he was top sergeant of his company. He spoke of telling his captain good bye when they went into action in which he got his wounds. He termed the "going over" as a suicide. The field was swept with machine gun fire and bursting shrapnel. Before he had gone fifteen feet he was hit five times and in the same action the captain was killed.

Fred Wolfers, president of the Chamber of Commerce, announced that next Monday evening will be women's night. All the married men are to bring their wives and those who are not married are to bring their sisters or sweethearts. The dinner will be held at the First Christian Church.

A program of music will be given.

Music was furnished last night by W. H. Nixson at the piano and Ralph Yehle with the violin. The Chamber has been fortunate at recent dinners in its music. Last week it was furnished by the Gaugh string orchestra and at the dinner before a quartet sang.

Mrs. J. F. Haller of Wilcox was shopping here this morning.

Mr. Jensen has a large mailing list which covers every state in the Union, Mexico and Canda.

FORD WRITES ABOUT CON CON

BELIEF IS ONLY FEW CHANGES WILL BE MADE.

WILL BE WORTH WHILE

If Convention Only Accomplishes One-Half of What Should be Accomplished.

Jefferson City, Mo., July 23, 1922.

To the Democrat-Forum:

It is surprising how tenaciously people cling to that which exists and the fear they have for any change whatever, even though the change may be minor and the thing to which you change is as well established as that which is to be changed. Everyone who is at all familiar with Constitutional Law knows that the Constitution of the United States is one of the ablest documents of the kind that has ever been written. It is brief, the language is plain, simple, forceful and expressive. It says more in fewer words than most any legal document extant. On the other hand, the Constitution of Missouri is long, involved, complicated and ambiguous. It contains five long sections dealing with subjects that are disposed of by the Constitution of the United States in half a dozen lines. A proposal was introduced in the convention to substitute this simple clause taken from the Constitution of the United States for the five sections of the Missouri Constitution and while everyone thoroughly understood the section in the Constitution of the United States and knew that it expressed all that was contained in the five sections of the Missouri Constitution, yet the Committee on the Bill of Rights wrangled for hours and then voted the proposition down overwhelmingly. If the converse had been proposed and it had been proposed to substitute five sections of the Missouri Constitution for the single section in the Constitution of the United States and change the Constitution of the United States in that particular, those same persons would have fought as tenaciously against making any such change.

Another instance was the proposal to amend the Constitution of Missouri in a slight particular. The Missouri Constitution provides that criminal prosecutions must be by indictment or information and the Supreme Court of Missouri has construed this to mean the old common law indictment. A proposal was offered to amend the Constitution in this particular, providing that the indictment and information need not conform to the requirements of the common law. One who never read or heard read one of those old common law indictments does not know how ridiculous and senseless it is possible for a serious legal document to be. England and Canada and most of the States have discarded them years ago, but when this effort was made to do away with them in Missouri we met the most determined opposition and feeling finally reached such a pitch that the committee had to adjourn. These facts are mentioned to show why it is really taking so much time in doing the work we were sent here to do. Every change that is made must be made after a desperate struggle. I regret to say it, but there are too many lawyers in this convention and too few men who are versed in the science of government. Government is a science and a science of which there is more ignorance to the square inch in the United States than

GOVERNMENT BEGINS ASSEMBLY OF FUEL RATION MACHINERY

Operators in Union Districts Redouble Efforts to Produce as Face Federal Control.

Washington, July 25.—The government began today an assembly of the fuel rationing machinery to meet the acute shortage reported in all parts of the country. The industrial plants are closing from a lack of coal. The rationing will be comparable to that during the war. The cabinet met at the White House to form the plans in detail.

Washington, July 25—Facing Federal control of mines the operators of the Union District of Southwestern Pennsylvania redoubled their efforts to open the mines under military protection, following a conference of officers and operators where it was planned to augment armed forces in the district as an incentive for the men to work. A carload of strike-breakers is expected.

Washington, July 25—Nationalization, or government control of the nations coal industry is the purpose of a bill introduced in the senate by Senator Borah of Idaho. It provides for the creation of the United States Coal Commission to deal with the coal situation.

Washington, July 25—Contractural obligations to purchase and deliver coal automatically abrogated when the Interstate Commission declares that an emergency exists and begins the issuance of priority orders, Secretary of Commerce Hoover, sponsor of the Governments program, stated.

New York, July 25—It is reliably reported that a joint conference of bituminous mine owners and striking miners will be held at Cleveland Saturday in an effort to reach an agreement. Participation by representative miners is being arranged by President Hail of the Ohio Miners.

WOUNDED MEN DID NOT UNDERSTAND ABOUT TRAINING

All Are Entitled to Maintenance and Schooling Who Have 10 Per Cent Rating

Many of the former service men do not understand whether or not they are entitled to vocational training. During the visit in Hopkins yesterday of the county health nurses one former service man was visited and shown that he was entitled to vocational training.

Section Three of the vocational training clause provides that men who have 10 per cent disability may obtain vocational training with maintenance. Section Two, which provided that the men were to maintain themselves, has been dropped.

STUDENT TEACHERS TO VISIT GRADES

"LEARN TO TEACH" BY WATCHING MARYVILLE TEACHERS

TO GO AS PATRONS WOULD

Will Not Interfere With Work of Teachers—College to Have no Connection With Schools

Beginning with the fall term students in teachers training at the State Teachers College will make visits to the grades of the public schools of Maryville, where they will observe the methods used and get practical ideas to be used when they themselves go out to teach, it has been announced by President Uel W. Lamkin and members of the Maryville board of education.

In making the visits to the school rooms of Maryville the students of the College will interfere in no way with the work of the teacher. They will go in a quiet orderly manner and hear the teacher and the pupils in the recitations. The arrangement does not mean that the College is to have any connection with the public schools. The students will go in to visit much the same that the patrons would. It has been pointed out that the schools are public and that the public is invited to visit them.

This arrangement will give the students in teachers training at the College an opportunity to observe work done both in the rural and urban schools. The rural demonstration school is the Garrett School.

The officials at the State Teachers College go on the theory that the best way for one who would teach to learn how is to visit places where the kind of teaching they are to do is going on, observe and get ideas that they may use in their own school room later on.

WANTING GUARDS AT CONCEPTION

TRAIN OFFICIALS ASKS HELP OF COUNTY OFFICERS

30 MEN OUT ON STRIKE

Necessary to Send Some Workers to Conception to Get Freight Trains Out

J. G. Wenk, trainmaster of the Chicago Great Western railroad company, with headquarters in St. Joseph, was in Maryville today in conference with Prosecuting Attorney Charles F. McCaffrey and Sheriff Steve A. Roach, relative to getting guards for the Great Western freight shops at Conception Junction. At Conception Junction, there are about twenty men of the shopcrafts out on a strike and last week eleven laborers attending to cleaning out fire boxes in the engines and doing other work walked out. It was said these laborers who walked out were not members of any union but they had recently put in their applications for membership.

Since these laborers walked out, it is necessary to get other help there to take their places or practically suspend freight trains out of Conception Junction. The railroad company it is said will send some workers to Conception Junction, but it was stated it will be necessary to have guards to protect them.

Prosecuting Attorney McCaffrey is opposing the sending of guards to Conception Junction on the grounds they are not needed and because the men out at that place have said they would do no violence.

Mr. Wenk and four officials of the company were in Conception Junction last week trying to do the work of the laborers. On Saturday morning, these laborers and others, including some members of the mechanics, demanded these men leave at once. There was quite a crowd and there was nothing else to do but for the men to leave.

Freight service out of Conception Junction has not been up to the regular service. Unless guards and workers can be secured, it is understood the railroad company will take care of the work in St. Joseph. Conception Junction is a freight division point between Kansas City and Des Moines.

A temporary restraining order to keep the strikers off of railroad property in division points was being heard in Kansas City this afternoon. If this order is granted, the United States marshal will take care of the situation and it will be under federal control.

FARMERS' MEETINGS HERE SATURDAY

TWO OF THEM AT FARM BUREAU OFFICE.

LUNCHEON FOR BREEDERS

Shorthorn Men to Plan for Sales and a Tour of the County May be Arranged for.

There will be a meeting of the Nodaway County Shorthorn Breeders Association in the office of the farm bureau at 10 o'clock Saturday morning and in the afternoon there will be a meeting of the executive committee of the farm bureau in the office, according to letters which were sent from the farm bureau office yesterday.

It is the plan to have the meeting of the breeders association concluded by noon so that the members can meet with members of the farm bureau at a lunch at one of the hotels. The Nodaway County agriculture films will be shown at this noon luncheon.

Proposals for the activities of the shorthorn association are to plan more sales for this fall and to join in a sociability tour some time next month. On this tour the breeders would meet at the farm of some Shorthorn breeders and drive from there to other farms and inspect the herds of the breeders in Nodaway County. If all of the breeders join in such a tour it will be an excellent means for the local breeders to acquaint themselves with the stock of others, it has been pointed out.

It is necessary for Mr. Kinnaird to know how many members intend to be present at the luncheon so that he can arrange with the hotel for that number of plates.

MAY HAVE MARTIAL LAW AT MOBERLY

LIEUT.-COL. SAYS NOT GETTING SUPPORT OF CITIZENS

EMBARGO ON SHIPMENTS

Louisville and Nashville Handling Only Coal, Live Stock and Perishable Goods

Moberly, July 25—Unless he receives the co-operation of the local authorities, which he says is denied him, Lieut.-Col. Williams, commanding 300 troops, declared today he would ask Governor Hyde to declare martial law. It is reported that 100 strike-breakers are on the way here to work for the Wabash. The colonel has given orders to shoot to kill. Machine guns are stationed about the shops.

Slater, Mo., July 25—A party of men rushed the Chicago Alton shops, and carried off Joe Ward, a strike breaker, and applied a coat of tar and feathers. Ward was found in a serious condition and taken to a hospital in Kansas City.

St. Louis, July 25—An embargo on shipments of everything with the exception of coal, livestock and perishable goods was established today on the Louisville and Nashville railways, owing to the shopmen's strike. Five other roads are accepting freight only on conditional delivery.

Lincoln, Neb., July 25—A fleet of motor trucks were pressed into service to carry breakfast this morning to strikers quartered at the Burlington roundhouses. Fourteen cooks who were employed at the roundhouses walked out midst the preparation of the morning meal.

Minneapolis, Minn., July 25—Eighteen lodges of railway clerks of the twin cities telegraphed to the international officers to send strike ballots to all the railway clerks of the northwest. The international officers have requested appearance before the Railway Labor Board to ask that the 5 per cent wage cut, effective July 1, be rescinded.

Chicago, July 25—A sympathetic drive on the part of the union members of the Big Four Brotherhoods to secure aid for the striking shopmen was given impetus here, it was stated A general mass for the organizing for sentiment is to be held here soon.

Chicago, July 25.—Western railroads are expected to follow the example of the eastern lines in beginning organizations of men replacing the striking shopmen. The move is believed to indicate that the roads are preparing for a prolonged fight with no intention of yielding to the strikers. The movement was made possible by the Railway Labor Board's outlawing the strikers. Jewell, leader of the strikers, declared that Gompers will not issue charters to the new organizations.

RETAIN THE PRIMARY ROAD REPORT

The St. Joseph Gazette had the following editorial in yesterday's issue:

As announced in the news, the Automobile club and its committee will represent St. Joseph before the state highway commission in the hearings on the primary roads at Jefferson City next Tuesday. They are to be commended for their decision to insist that no changes be made in the engineers' recommendations for primary roads as far as St. Joseph is concerned.

St. Joseph road enthusiasts waged a good fight in their attempt to secure the designation of the Jefferson highway north to the Iowa state line, but lost. As developments came, it was clearly shown that this road did not merit a primary designation in accordance with the plan adopted by the commission. It was the purpose of the law that the new state system of highways should connect the more populous cities and tap the more densely settled communities. With only so many miles of primary road to designate, the commission ran out of money before reaching the turn of this section of the Jefferson highway.

As a fitting recompense for its adverse decision in the Jefferson highway matter, the engineers gave St. Joseph a primary road between this city and Maryville and also designated the highway as a federal aid road. The result of the fight is that the Jefferson highway north ultimately will be paved by federal aid, with the Maryville road thrown in for good measure.

To St. Joseph the Maryville road probably is the more important. This road splits the Fourth congressional district and will be connected with feeders which will tap the entire district. The territory represented always has "belonged" to St. Joseph in a retail and market sense, and the new road should more firmly bind it to us.

FEARLESS EDITORS

Moberly Democrat

It is a strange coincidence that two former able editors of Macon City should be called to the great beyond within a few days' time. J. A. Hudson of Columbia and J. J. Heifner of Maryville both died less than ten days apart. Both during their days of residence in Macon City were towers of strength to that city and county, as they were editors of conviction, courage and ability equal to any to be found in the state. Both had gone out of the newspaper business to make money, as in their day only a living could be realized from a newspaper, however ably conducted. Both hewed to the line when at the newspaper helm and did their duty to their community and state, without profit or hope of reward. The approval of their conscience and the good of all was ever their guiding rule. The newspaper business now badly needs more men of their force independence sound convictions and courage to be right.

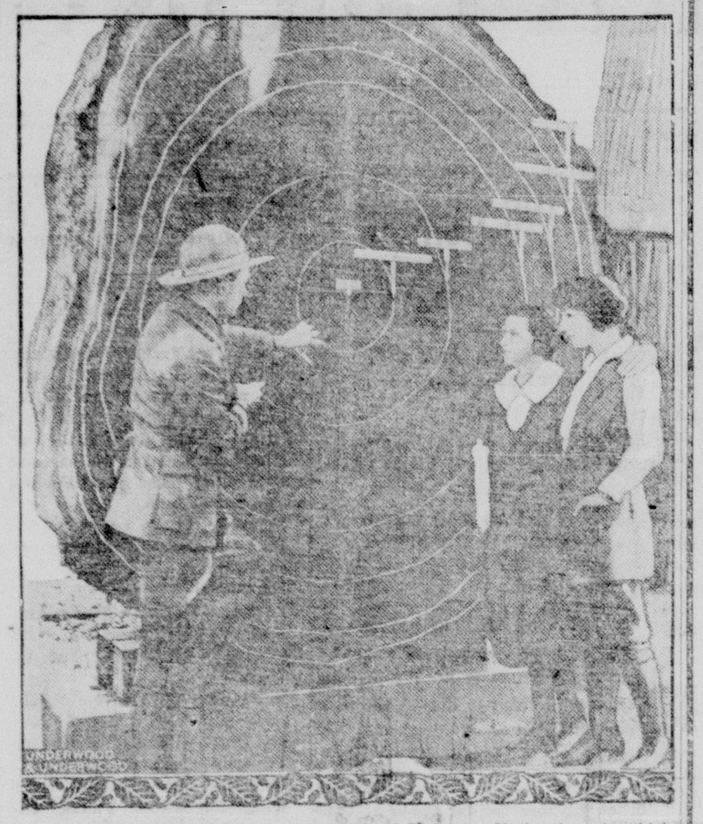
History Recorded in Tree's Rings



This is the butt of the giant sequoia of Yosemite National park which came to an end in the prime of its life when it was felled by a storm in 1919. At that time it was only 996 years old. Some trees in Yosemite are between 3,000 and 4,000 years old. For the benefit of visitors, the park naturalist, Ansel F. Hall, has measured off on the trunk the rings which mark the years when the Battle of Hastings was fought, America was discovered, and the Declaration of Independence signed, as well as other epochal years. The space between the thumb and forefinger measures the span of the human life.

BEN HICKMAN, SLAYER OF PATTON, AT LARGE

Veteran Convict Escaped With Two Of His Companions From Ft. Madison

Shenandoah Sentinel-Post

Ben. Hickman, convicted slayer of Bert Patton, deputy sheriff of Page county, is again the central figure in a man hunt, having escaped from the state prison at Fort Madison where he and his brother, Arthur Hickman were sent for life for the slaying of the Shenandoah officer.

Hickman was still at large yesterday, according to local police officers who have heard nothing to the contrary.

With two other prisoners he escaped from the penitentiary Thursday throwing a guy rope over the north wall and sliding down to liberty.

Two of the convicts, Robert Walter and Fred Thrasher, were caught after being trailed for several miles by bloodhounds. Hickman is believed to have escaped by boarding a freight train. The men were engaged in work on the new chair factory when they escaped.

Thrasher was serving a sentence for escaping prison after a forgery conviction. His home is said to be in Michigan, but he was sent to prison from Davenport. Walter is also a prisoner from Page county, having been convicted at Clarinda for breaking and entering. His home is at Lima, Ohio.

Hickman was convicted last August after a trial at Atlantic, Iowa. He and his brother killed Patton February 12 at Bingham as he alighted from a train. The Hickmans had robbed a dice game in Shenandoah and fled. After shooting Patton they escaped a posse and were hunted for three days and nights finally being caught at Phelps City, Mo., in woods along the Missouri river. The matter of being hunted is not a new experience for the escaped convict as even before this trouble he had a police record. The brother, Arthur Hickman's family lived at Coin.

Ben Hickman is the younger of the two men and is unmarried.

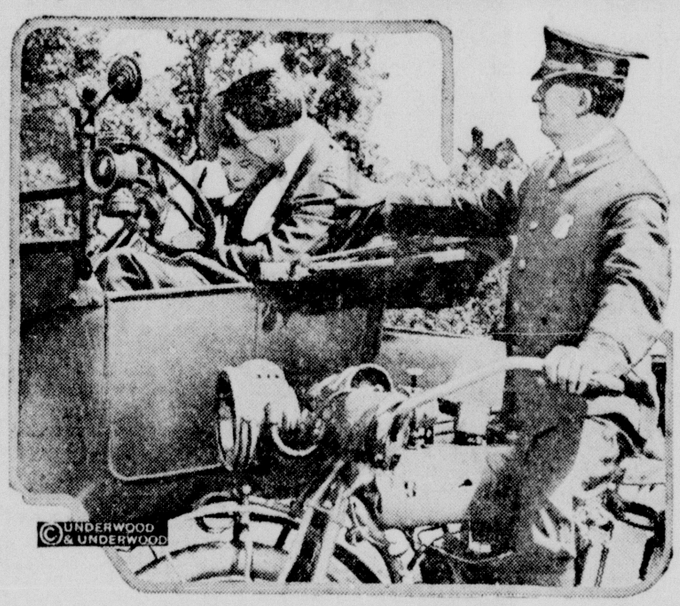
No More of This in Rock Creek Park



"Look here, young man, we don't allow this," says Lieutenant Carroll, chief of the U. S. park police in the District of Columbia, tapping the shoulder of the young man who has stopped in the park to give his "sweetie" a squeeze and a kiss. Blocking traffic and disorderly conduct are the charges, for which the offender pays $25 each. This is now a regular treatment for drivers who park their automobiles after dark in Rock Creek park.

Panama Bark good for Cleaning Dark Colored Garments

When a garment made of some dark colored material needs a thorough cleaning, procure some Panama bark (obtainable in drug stores), cut it in splinters and boil it for fifteen minutes; soak the garment in cold water, and when the solution is tepid put in the material, shake it vigorously and rub the stained parts. Rinse carefully, changing the water several times; iron under damp cloth.

Here is an excellent recipe for cleaning white gloves: Dissolve some white soap in hot milk, add the white of an egg whipped to a stiff froth, together with a few drops of ammonia. Clean with a piece of woolen material which has been dipped in the solution. Hang the gloves out of doors in the shade, and when they are dry sprinkle them with very fine powder and polish with a piece of flannel.

LIVED 3 YEARS IN BATHTUB

End Comes to Lieut. Milton B. Mackall a War Victim

Baltimore, July 25—Lieut. Milton B. Mackall, who for the last three years had lain in a bathtub at the Fort McHenry hospital as a result of a wound received in the World War, died last night. He was conscious almost until the last. The case of Lieutenant Mackall was without parallel in the military annals of the country.

He was the only patient not removed from the hospital when the grain elevators of the B. & O. railroad burned several weeks ago. Physicians believed his removal would be fatal. Attendants remained with him in case removal should mecome necessary as a last resort.

The wound which caused his paralysis and death was suffered October 15, 1918, when a German sniper shot him in the back.

One of the bullets partially severed his spinal cord, and for nearly four years leading physicians of this country and Europe used all their skill and knowledge to aid him in the fight against death.

For six months he received treatment in hospitals in France, but his condition became worse and the French authorities said his case was helpless. Despite his intense suffering Lieutenant Mackall never lost hope.

HEALTH CLINIC HELD YESTERDAY AT HOPKINS

Eight Children, Who Were Brought For Re-Examination, Had Gained In Weight

The health clinic held at Hopkins yesterday, beginning the last of the visits of Dr. Claude P. Fryer, county health officers, and Miss Margaret Scully and Mrs. Grace Bean, county health nurses, to the different towns of the county before taking up the work with school children this fall, was attended by twenty-six children.

Eight of the children at yesterday's clinic were brought there to be re-examined after attending some previous clinic. Nine of the children were school children which were brought for examination for the first time. Five of these were pre-school children and four were infants. The eight children who were brought for re-examination were all underweight when they first visited the health clinic. When they were examined again yesterday it was found that they had all gained weight during the past three weeks.

One child had gained two and three quarters pounds during the three weeks which is more than normal gain. Children who are underweight, however, should gain more than normally, the county health nurses pointed out today. Several of the children had gained two pounds and some had gained only a pound. One child had been fitted with glasses.

GETTING READY FOR PRIMARY BIG JOB

COUNTY CLERK BUSY GETTING THINGS PREPARED.

ONLY FOUR TICKETS

Men are Showing Every Courtesy to the Women Voters—Don't Stay Away From Polls.

The preparation of the ballot and the supplies for the primary is as great a task if not greater than for the annual election. The supplies, the ballots, the instructions, the sacks, the poll books, pencils and all must be at each voting precinct in Nodaway county just as they must be over the state and County Clerk Fred Smith is busy and will be for many days ahead.

Each Democratic voter will have to pass on thirty-nine names in voting for sixteen officials. The ticket includes county and state candidates. There are only four tickets before the state this year, being no prohibition, nor independent, as usually there is.

The four tickets are Democratic, Republican, Socialist and Socialist Labor, but there are only Democratic and Republican candidates in Nodaway county.

The state primary election law makes the preparation of the ticket a complicated affair. The law requires that the number of ballots to be provided by the county clerk shall be twice the number of all the votes cast at the last preceding election for each precinct. That requires to be printed almost 13,000 of each ballot. On all of the tickets will appear the state candidates, United States senator, representative in congress and on the tickets will appear the candidates for the county offices of presiding judge, county clerk, circuit clerk, prosecuting attorney and judge of probate court.

There is a subdivision for the priating of the ballots as the county is divided into two districts because of the two associate judges in the county court being elected.

The arrangements of the ticket does not end with this, however, under the law it is necessary to have the name of each candidate appear at the head of the ticket at his particular group as nearly as possible after every other candidate. Where there is but one candidate for an office, there is no change necessary. With two candidates, half of the ballots must be run with one name at the top of half of the tickets and the other name at the top half of the time and these must be mixed so that there will not be ten ballots together with the same name at the top.

In each voting precinct it is an effort of both the Democrats and the Republicans to have a man member and a woman member from each precinct for the county central committees.

When thinkers and workers all over the state and nation have made all kinds of laws in an effort to have fairness rule at the polls at such a great expense to the state and county at each election, it is not only a sacred privilege, but a sacred duty for every clean, honest, high minded man or woman to assist as conscientiously as he or she knows how. It is a duty to take care of the making of the laws and their enforcement by his or her ballot, just as it has been done for at elections in every precinct in the state and nation for the past 146 years or the nation would not have made any progress.

At this election, August 1, there will be judges, clerks and poll books, pencils, sacks, instructions, all there prepared for your use. Not only that but each ballot is printed with the proper changes and the proper conditions so that justice may be done to each person on the ticket and to each person in the county voting. Why all this trouble for accuracy and fairness and proper representation if you are going to remain away and be disinterested and let the unscrupulous reign? So everybody in the county please come to the polls and vote at the primary, August 1, a week from today.

Of course, this is the first primary that the women have voted and two years ago was their first election, but the men voters are showing every courtesy possible in both parties and as a return for this courtesy every woman should go to the polls and vote at this primary because the primary election is the effort to select the candidate who is really best fitted for the place.

Those who vote conscientiously and remain away from the polls are giving the unscrupulous and those who are not conscientious an opportunity to misrepresent and defraud and do just the opposite that civilization and Christian teaching intends election to do.

However, in one instance, August 1, the election will be final as to the candidates. Those candidates receiving the most votes August 1, as members of the county central committee will be declared elected and will have charge of the party activities in the regular election which is to be held in November.

Inserted is a late portrait of Hsu.

This Tuna Put Up a Great Fight

Roderick Lean Cutmore Mower

Hay Making Simplified With Standard Fordson Equipment

YOU cannot afford to lose time in the haying season. There are few sections where the weather at haying time is always ideal. That is the one time of year when speed is the essence of good farming. It is no uncommon happening for some farmers to lose several tons of hay by a delay in getting it off the ground.

This work is now speeded up by using the Fordson with the RODERICK LEAN CUTMORE MOWER. The CUTMORE is attached direct to the tractor between the front and rear wheels in the position where the driver can have perfect control over it. The power is taken from the worm gear that drives the rear wheels, so it is always even and dependable.

The CUTMORE makes hay cutting with the Fordson a one-man job. There is ample power for cutting the heaviest crops, including alfalfa, clover, vetch, velvet beans, pea hay and lespedeza.

The cutter bar may be disconnected in a few minutes, so that the tractor may be used for other work. The draw bar is always available for pulling a wagon, rake or other tool. Attached to your Fordson, the CUTMORE means greater speed and economy of handling your hay crop.

If you want to save all you raise, equip your farm with STANDARD FORDSON EQUIPMENT.

Obituary

Mrs. Therzie Ann Ross, widow of the late Robert Ross, died at her home in Ravenwood at 4:50 p. m. Friday, July 21, 1922 after an illness of four and one half days, aged seventy-five years four months and eight days She was one of the oldest residents of this place, her father, Moses Stingley having owned the land where Ravenwood is located and where she was born. She lived her whole life in this community. She was united in marriage to Robert Ross July 3, 1864 and was preceded by her husband who died October 2, 1916, and by one son, Arthur who died July 10, 1887, about nine years of age.

She leaves five daughters and one son to mourn for her, namely: Mrs. A. A. Hall, M. S. Ross, Helen and Rosetta of Colorado, Mrs. C. A. Shunk and Miss M. M. Ross of Ravenwood, also four brothers and four sisters. Two of her brothers George and Allen Stingley live near here.

She united with the Methodist Church at the age of fifteen. Hers was a life of self sacrifice for the good of others, and with a smile on her face she answered the summons with these words, "I am coming" and went peacefully to sleep in Jesus.

SEMI-ANNUAL ODD FELLOWS INSTALLATION AT BARNARD

Lawrence Goforth Is Noble Grand and Paul Stalling Is Vice-Grand.

The semi-annual installation of officers for the Odd Fellows Lodge was held last night at Barnard. A number of Maryville people were there and say that the affair was one of the best they ever attended. The Rebecca's of Barnard served refreshments and they say that these were fine. Barnard has a lot of pep in its Odd Fellows organizations. An installation team from there put on installation work in Maryville recently and did it quite well.

Lawrence Goforth was installed last night as noble grand and Paul Stalling was installed as vice grand. Mr. Goforth appointed the following officers: Right supporter to the noble grand, Floyd Westfall; left supporter to the noble grand, John Beatie; warden, John Tullock; conductor, George Rasco; chaplin, J. R. Turner; left supporter to the vice-grand, Stanley Davidson; right supporter to the vice-grand, Dr. M. M. Pollard; outside guardian, W. A. Ware; inside guardian, Newt Myric; right scene supporter, Warren Campbell; left scene supporter, Mack Deaton.

Mr. Smith, who is district deputy, did the work of installation.

in any other country on earth. I would not have it otherwise for the only way to develop men who are well versed in the science of government is to have a governing class. In the old countries they have a governing class and these men make a business or profession of government the same as a man makes a business or profession of any other line of endeavor.

We are very much inclined to point with pride to the Revolutionary forefathers and we have a right to be proud of them and of the work they did in behalf of mankind. In those days only a limited number of men could read and write. We had our educated, cultured class, and usually and especially in Virginia and the Southern States, they belonged to the landed aristocracy. They constituted a governing class. Democracy was new then. Most of them were lawyers, but all of them were more than mere professional practitioners, they were statesmen as well, men skilled in state craft. They had not only mastered the theory of government but they had had years of practical experience and were able to apply their theories to existing conditions. In my judgment, the body of men who drafted the Constitution of the United States have never been equalled by any other assembly of like kind and I do not believe it would be possible to assemble another body like them in this whole country today for we do not have the men who are as profoundly learned in the theory of government and who at the same time have had their practical experience. About the only men we have who are learned in the theory of government are teachers of the science of government and writers on government and as a rule such men lack practical experience. The men who have had the practical experience are politicians and politicians are men who know how to get votes. As a rule they know nothing whatever about the theory of government and care less. These considerations have caused some of us to go back to the works of the old masters, the Constitution of the United States and the old State Constitutions of that period and draw on them for the materials with which to build the new Constitution, but lawyers are proverbially cautious and conservative. They know what danger can be wrought by the change of a line and sometimes of a single word and so they examine every proposed change with a microscope and of course are always seeing ghosts and goblins where none exist, seeing danger in every shadow and conjuring up all sorts of difficulties which are the creations of a lively imagination. The convention needs some good lawyers, in fact they are indispensable, but it is blessed with an over-dose of a good thing, it is legally top-heavy. This inclines one to believe that not many changes will be made and the report of the Committee on Legislation that has just been filed tends to confirm this belief. This committee had nothing to do with the size of the legislature, that being in the hands of another committee and in respect of which more will be said later, but they did have much to do with the work of the legislature and about the only change they made was to recommend an increase in the salary of the members of the legislature from $5.00 to $10.00 a day and limiting the amount that could be expended for clerk hire to $400.00 a day for the House and $300.00 a day for the Senate.

I think it will be conceded that the pay of the legislators is inadequate and I should certainly favor the increase if I thought it would enable us to secure the services of more able and intelligent persons but I do not believe the mere increase in salary will accomplish that result. That also will be considered later but for the present there are other things to be considered. At first blush it would seem as if $400 a day for the house and $300 for the Senate, a total of $700 a day, was a large amount of money for a legislature to expend for clerk hire but an examination of the auditor's report will disclose that the last two or three legislatures expended more than $2000 per day for clerk hire. The last report of the auditor does not show the expenses of the last legislature but does show however, that the legislature of 1919 cost the State of Missouri $540,618.95. Of this sum the pay of the members and officers of the two houses was $130,562 while the contingent expenses of the Senate alone were $210,056.12. The contingent expenses of the house were $163,924.71. It must be remembered that this was a revising session and therefore more expensive than the ordinary session but even though it were a revising session it is difficult to understand why the contingent expenses of the Senate should be more than $1700 per day. I have some hesitancy in going into these figures in detail because I fear I would be charged with muckraking. I have cited these facts solely for the purpose of showing what an enormous saving it would be to the State if the legislature were limited to even $700 per day for clerk hire. In my judgment a small, efficient, capable body of legislators could transact the business of the State and give us a much better body of laws than we have now and spend much less than $700 a day and have all the help that they could possibly need. I know that this Convention subjected itself to much criticism for passing a resolution that every delegate should have a clerk. I was much opposed to this myself as I felt it was unnecessary. While the resolution was adopted, the facts are there are only thirty or forty who have actually employed clerks. Judge Zwick of St. Joseph employed a stenographer and she does the work for Judge Zwick, Judge Culver and myself, has done some work for Mrs. Morrow, another delegate, helps with the clerical work at the general office and then spends a good part of her time complaining because she has nothing to do and no way to pass the time. She would much prefer to be busy. However, she is a capable, efficient stenographer and was not put on the payroll merely to draw her salary but is really capable of earning the $6.00 a day that the State pays her. If the State would employ efficient and capable help like the one employed by Judge Zwick it would not be necessary to have an army of clerks, most of whom do nothing much but have a good time and watch the others work. When one considers that this girl does the work of four delegates and helps with the other work at the capitol and then is not kept busy, one wonders why it is necessary for a State Senator to have five clerks, yet I understand that each Senator is allowed to appoint five clerks. This was not confined to the last Republican Legislature, the same thing was true of its Democratic predecessor and in fact I think has been the prevailing custom for a number of years. This is one of the evils that is sought to be cured by this amendment. There are many others that are much more important than this small matter so that it can be easily seen there is really some work for this Convention to do but whether it will do all that it should do or not must be determined by the future. Even though it takes considerable time it will be worth while if we only accomplish one-half of what should be accomplished by this Convention.

PLANNING FOR HERD AT COLLEGE FARM

IS NEEDED IN THE STUDY OF LIVE STOCK

PRODUCTS TO CAFETERIA

Stanfield Says Ground Now an Expense to Keep Mown Could be Used as Pasture

The farm at the State Teachers College is now producing a majority of the crops that are grown in this section of the state and in adjoining sections of Iowa, Nebraska and Kansas. The students are getting much practical work and information from the farm and garden crops. But the College is hampered in the study of live stock in that it is not kept on the place.

It is the desire of officials at the College to have live stock at the farm in order that the subject of agriculture may be taught to a better advantage. A modern hog house has been built at the farm and is waiting for the swine. W. W. Stanfield, who is in charge of the farm, says that the new barn was built for storage but that the lower part could easily be arranged for caring for live stock.

Mr. Stanfield says that he is getting ready for a herd of diary cows at the farm and that he believes it will be possible to handle twenty. He has sown some of the land just west of the barn and north of the drive through the College grounds in grass, using barley and oats as a nurse crop. The ground will be ready for pasture next year. He says it will be possible to convert from 20 to 30 acres of land of the College into pasture. He has in mind the ground about the old seminary and that south of where the work was done for an athletic field. He says that at present this land is doing the College but little good and that it is an expense to keep it mown each summer. The cattle on the grass would in no way detract from the appearance of the grounds and the College.

The farming land at the College would produce the feed for the stock.

With the new dormitory being built and the cafeteria that is to be placed in it, it will be possible to use the products from twenty cows at the College. The swill from the dormitory, and the skimmed milk from the cows would come in handy for hog feed and need not be wasted if there is a herd of hogs. Mr. Stanfield feels that the cows and hogs would be practically self-supporting and that they would offer a training of great value to the students at the College.

Mr. Stanfield says that a poultry lot is also needed for study and that it would be possible to use the products from this in the dormitory. He thinks, however, that at present there is no suitable place at the College for poultry.

Gary Explains Distribution of Federal and State Money

Theodore Gary, chairman of the state highway commission, issued a statement yesterday for the purpose of correcting mis-information abroad in the state concerning money available for road building in Missouri under the commission. The statement follows:

"There seems to be a misunderstanding in the minds of a great many citizens of the state regarding the provisions of the state and federal laws relating to the classification of the highways included in the state highway system, also concerning the plan of distribution of the state and federal funds to these highways. It is, therefore, advisable to issue at this time, a statement explaining the provisions of these laws and their particular application to these two things.

Three-Sevenths to Primary Roads.

"The federal aid law provides that the state highway commission or the state legislature may lay out a system of highways, comprising a mileage not to exceed 7 per cent of the total public road mileage of the state, on any portion of which federal aid may be applied to an extent not to exceed 50 per cent of the cost of construction. The records of the state highway commission show that the total road mileage of Missouri amounts to 111,510 miles. Seven per cent of this is 7,805.7 miles. The federal law provides that this mileage may be divided into two classes:

(a) A primary or interstate system not to include more than three-sevenths of the 7 per cent mileage.

(b) A secondary or inter-county system, including the remainder of the 7 per cent mileage.

"All these designations are subject to the approval of the secretary of agriculture representing the federal government. It is well to emphasize at this point that the state highway commission is authorized under the federal law, to apply federal aid to any portion of this 7 per cent mileage, whether in the federal primary or in the secondary system, to the extent of 50 per cent or less of the actual cost of construction.

"In addition to the foregoing federal provisions, the state legislature has designated a system of highways comprising a mileage of approximately 7,630 miles. It has also provided for a state highway commission to select, or designate, a 'higher type' of highways for a state primary system to connect the principal centers of population of the state. The legislature has limited the mileage of this state primary system to approximately 1,500 miles, with the restriction that the total mileage of the state system shall not be increased beyond the 7,630 miles as designated in the statute.

Division of the Funds.

"The state highway law then provides for this entire system of 7,630 miles to be constructed and maintained under the direction of the state highway commission and sets forth a specific plan for the division of all the funds coming into the hands of the state highway commission, including federal funds accruing to the state. This law provides for the general division of all funds, both federal and state, between the state primary or 'higher type' system and the secondary system. One-third of all funds, plus $6,000 per mile, shall be set aside for the construction of the 'higher type' or state primary system of highways. The balance of the funds becoming available is then set aside by the highway commission to the credit of the various counties of the state for the construction of the remainder of the state highway system.

"Each county apportionment is to be pro-rated on the basis of the state highway mileage lying within that county, not included in the state primary system and on the cost of these roads. The estimated cost of construction will be made on the basis of a type of road that will, in the opinion of the commission, be adequate to take care of the needs of the traffic that will pass over the road.

A Definite Sum for Each County.

"The law further sets an arbitrary limit on the minimum type of construction that shall be used on the state highway system as a 12-foot gravel pavement, and also provides a minimum amount of $6,000 per mile on which the estimates of the cost of construction shall be figured. This means that in all counties there will be spent by the highway commission a definite sum of money out of the funds that have been set aside by the law for the secondary road system.

Therefore the counties are not concerned with whether or not the funds that are spent on their highways are derived from state or from federal sources, but are only concerned with whether or not their apportionments are figured on a just and equitable basis and are actually spent upon the highways within their county. The state highway commission is not necessarily controlled by county boundary lines in carrying on the construction of the state 'higher type' or primary system. The distribution of the work on this system and the manner of its prosecution will be determined by the commission after they have studied the economic features of the question and bearing in mind that the maximum service should be rendered to the greatest number of users of the highways."
